

Actors Ensemble of Berkeley Presents
Adapted and directed by Stanley Spenger

Anton Chekhov's
UNCLE VANYA

Live Oak Theatre, Berkeley

April 18 – May 17

Fridays and Saturdays 8 p.m. $12

Extra Performance: Thursday, May 15th

A sour old professor. His beautiful young wife. A doctor fooling himself that he loves the young wife. A caretaker who loves (surprise) the young wife. A daughter who loves the doctor. Mix in a pistol and the Russian countryside, and you have a play that is Chekhovian—and if you are asking “What is Chekhovian?,” then you need to see “Uncle Vanya.” It’s a comedy and a tragedy. It’s human beings locked into an existence and their struggle to find some meaning in their lives. It’s the beauty of words and the specific effect each word has on the listener. It’s, finally and thankfully, Chekhovian.
